RE: Satisfactory performance certificate for American Eco Systems Elmosa Seawater Intake and Outfall Systems.

This is to certify that the Elmosa InvisiHead seawater intake head system has been in operation in one of our power plants since early 2007, delivering the design capacity under all operation and weather conditions, and has performed well even during C5 hurricanes, which are an integral part of the weather in this region-the Caribbean. The InvisiHead seems to continue performing well for many years to come.
